Farmingville, NY - At a ceremony during Tuesday night's Town Board meeting, Councilwoman Connie Kepert, along with Supervisor Mark Lesko and Councilwoman Bonner, presented Longwood High School Senior Corinne Rooney with a certificate of congratulations for her achievements at the Culinary Arts School contest at Suffolk County Community College.

Councilwoman Kepert stated, "I know that the culinary arts is a growing industry and I wish you great luck for your future as a chef."

Supervisor Lesko said, "Congratulations to Corinne on her award and I wish her the best of luck. She certainly has a bright future ahead."

Councilwoman Jane Bonner said, "I commend Corrine for her achievement in the Culinary Arts contest and I expect that she will have a successful career. I wish her the best of luck."

Rooney took second place in the contest, winning a set of chef's kitchen knives. She hopes to attend Suffolk's Culinary Arts School in the fall and then continue her studies at Johnson and Wales in pursuit of a career as an executive chef.
